OVERVIEW

Rio Tinto is a leading global mining and metals company. For more than 140 years, they have focussed on finding, mining and processing the Earth’s mineral resources in order to maximise value for their shareholders.

Rio Tinto’s Amrun (South of Embley) Project is a greenfield bauxite operation in the Weipa / Aurukun region of Western Cape York, Far North Queensland.

The new development will eventually replace the existing East Weipa mine centre and develop the high quality bauxite reserves available south of the Weipa Peninsula. The Project involves the staged increase in production of up to 50 million dry product tonnes per annum (mdptpa).

In late 2015, the Rio Tinto Board approved development of the first stage of the project, up to 22.8mtpa.

The purpose of this directory is to provide Rio Tinto and its contractors working on the South of Embley Project with market intelligence that enables them to more effectively engage with Indigenous businesses operating in Far North Queensland.

Rio Tinto’s leadership in the development of this work supports their commitment to Indigenous industry participation and compliance with state and federal government legislation.
